PHILLIPS LYTLE ATTORNEYS PRESENT AT ASSOCIATION OF LAW LIBRARIES OF UPSTATE NEW YORK ANNUAL MEETING

BUFFALO, NY – Timothy W. Hoover and Susan M. Marriott, attorneys with Phillips Lytle LLP, one of the region's best known law firms, were speakers at the 55th Annual Meeting of the Association of Law Libraries of Upstate New York (ALLUNY). Mr. Hoover presented on legal and constitutional issues from the New York State Senate Impasse, as well as thoughts on Justice Sotomayor's impact on the Supreme Court. Ms. Marriott was a panelist on the Federal Recovery Act and spoke about developing infrastructure projects and pursuing energy funding under the Act.

Founded in 1954, ALLUNY is a chapter of the Association of Law Libraries, a national organization that promotes professional development among law libraries and provides educational opportunities to its members.

At Phillips Lytle, Mr. Hoover focuses his practice on commercial litigation and white collar and federal criminal defense. He earned his J.D., Order of the Coif, Vanderbilt University School of Law and his B.A., With High Honor, from Michigan State University. Mr. Hoover is a member of the American, New York State and Erie County Bar Associations and is a board member of the Michigan State University Alumni Association, Buffalo Chapter.

Ms. Marriott concentrates her practice in the areas of environment and energy, telecommunications, and land use and zoning law, along with climate change policy. A member of the New York State Wireless Association, Ms. Marriott earned her J.D., cum laude, from Pace University School of Law, an M.E.M. from Yale University of Forestry & Environmental Studies and a B.S. from Michigan State University.

Phillips Lytle LLP, one of the region's best known law firms, is celebrating its 175th anniversary in 2009. The firm has seven offices across New York State in Buffalo, Albany, Chautauqua, Garden City, New York City and Rochester. With the farthest geographic reach
